Tribe.

TROOPS GATHER IN FRONTIER

Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 28.—Word comes from the interior this morning that the soldiers are dividing up into small parties and are going in different directions. Large numbers of full bloods heavily armed are working west from Eufaula to Snake Ridge. A report comes from Eufaula that when Marshall Bennett meets the Indians a crash will come. It is feared that hundreds of outlaws will take advantage of the situation and will go on a campaign of depredation. The Indians are again placing obstructions on the Frisco track near Holdenville and when the railroad men attempted to remove them they were fired upon but without serious results.

Guthrie, Ok., Jan. 28.—The first overt act of the belligerent redskins in the Indian territory is reported to have been committed last night. The home of a ranchman, John Bertram, sixteen miles east of Bristow, was burned to the ground and the owner and his family fled for their lives to Bristow.

A band of Snake Indians thirty strong, Bertram charges, fired his home and tried to butcher him, his wife and children. Whooping and yelling the Indian band, the most of whom appeared to be in a state of drunken frenzy, rode up to the house late in the evening and made demonstrations of so hostile a nature that it was apparent to Bertram that they were bent on massacre.

The redskins withdrew to gather material to burn the house and Bertram mounted his family on horseback and started towards Bristow. The Indians followed but the settler and his family got into Bristow ahead of them.

Crazy Smoke Is Captured.

Henrietta, I. T., Jan. 28.—Deputy Marshall Grant Johnson and Bunnie McIntosh of Eufaula, two men noted for their bravery and daring in hazardous expeditions against outlaws, made a bold dash upon the encampment of snakes near Eufaula and captured Chitto Harjo, also known as Crazy Smoke, the chief of the hostiles. After an exciting and thrilling escape from the hostile Creek camp they managed to take their prisoner to this place this evening and he is now held captive under a strong guard of soldiers under the command of Lieut. Dixon.

Sayes Outbreak Is Spreading.

Washington, Jan. 28.—A dispatch yesterday's date from Agent Shoenfeld at Muskogee, I. T., regarding the Indian troubles has been received here. The message reads:

"Late dispatches indicate that the uprising in the Choctaw nation is spreading. Disaffected Indians have threatened to carry out their plans and threaten destruction of property. Have just ordered a squad of policemen to Bristow to assist the civil authorities in maintaining order and prevent the sale of whiskey to the Indians."

Arrest Indian Runner.

Bristow, I. T., Jan. 28.—Major G. W. Lille, "Pawnee Bill," with a posse, including Captain Edmund Harry of the Creek Light Horsemen; United States Marshals Dean, Hogan and Churchwell and Indian Police Keyes, Howell and Saunders, visited the hostile Creek stamping ground, six miles south of this place. The Indians were holding a big feast and refused the posse admittance and declined to confer with them in any manner. Many of the full-bloods who have been in the habit of wearing white man's apparel, were dressed in full Indian regalia. Near the camp the marshals arrested Tom Tiger, captain of the insurgent light horsemen, who left at dark in custody for Muskogee, as it was feared an attempt would be made to release him if held here.

Armour Worth $15,000,000

Chicago, Jan. 28.—The will of Philip Armour was filed for probate this morning. The instrument shows that the packer left an estate valued at fifteen million. The widow, son and two grandsons are made the sole legatees.

Twenty-One Men Drowned.

Madrid, Jan. 28.—A fishing boat has gone down off Basugo with twenty-one men.

CHAS. NEELY MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES

Claims That the Administration Is Making Him a Scapegoat in Cuban Postal Frauds.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The statement of Charles Neely was published this morning in which he charges that he was being made to serve as the scapegoat of the administration in the Cuban postal frauds which have caused much discussion in official circles. His charges are regarded as the most serious and are least worthy of investigation. That there is any truth in them no official will yet admit. The impression is rather encouraged in official circles that the statement is a desperate effort by Neely to free himself after failure along other lines.

CARNEGIE GIFTS SUMMED UP

Steel Man Endows Educational Institutions and Libraries with $13,540,965.

New York, Jan. 28.—Andrew Carnegie, who has said that "To die rich is to die disgraced," has already done considerable to save himself that humiliation, yet he is still thought to be worth at least $200,000,000. From an authentic source a table of Mr. Carnegie's gifts has been prepared and a summary of it makes the following showing:

Education institutions in America	$4,005,000
Carnegie libraries in 69 American cities	5,306,100
Libraries and schools in Great Britain	1,241,065
Miscellaneous gifts	428,200
Total	$13,540,965

AGED LAWYER PASSES AWAY

J. R. McDonald, a Resident of Algoma, Wis., Forty-Two Years.

Algoma, Wis., Jan. 28.—Former Assemblyman J. R. McDonald of this city died yesterday. He was 83 years of age. He was admitted to the bar at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1838, and had practiced here forty-two years. He was in the legislature during the session of 1870. Besides holding several county offices he also officiated as Algoma's first mayor.

Coal in China.

Professor Drake estimates that within the 150 square miles around Tse-chau there are about three thousand million metric tons of coal, and it must be remembered that this area is only a little of the ragged edge of the great coal fields of Shan-si. Most of Shan-si has been found underlaid by large coal beds. Richthofen estimates that the anthracite coal alone of Shan-si amounts to 630,000 million tons, and that the coal area is greater than that of Pennsylvania.

KING EDWARD HONORS GERMAN KAISER

Ruler of Germany Has Been Made Field Marshal in the British Army.

London, Jan. 28.—In recognition of his magnificent attitude during the illness and death of Queen Victoria, the Emperor of Germany was formally honored by King Edward today with the appointment of field marshal in the British army. In addition to this rare distinction Emperor William has been presented with the insignia of the order in diamonds. In return for these marked tokens of the high appreciation in which he is held by the British nation, Emperor William has offered King Edward the rank of Admiral in the German navy. In Berlin and London these actions are looked upon with the highest appreciation. It is taken as an indication that the relations of the two nations are being bound very closely together.

Cowes, Jan. 28.—It has not yet been decided at what hour the funeral of the queen will be held on Friday next, but it will probably be about three o'clock in the afternoon. The train which will convey the body to London will move slowly in order to enable the people of the country-side to get a good view of it.

The outline of the part to be taken by the navy, which is the first of the kind in British history, shows that the ships of the channel and reserve squadrons will be stretched in a line from Cowes to Spithead, and thence to Portsmouth keeping the northern side of the route. The foreign ships will assemble at Spithead and cover the southern side of the route.

DR. RODERMUND ESCAPES PRISON

The Appleton Crank Breaks
Quarantine and Skips
Out of the City.

HE MAY BE IN CHICAGO

Confederate Aids Man Who Caused the Small Pox
Scare To Get Away.

PEOPLE OF THE TOWN ARE HOT

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 28.—Dr. M. D. Rodermund, the Appleton physician, who attempted to prove his theory that small pox is not contagious by smearing himself with virus and exposing hundreds of people in this city and Green Bay to contagion, has made good his threats and escaped from quarantine. He is now supposed to be in Chicago.

H. W. Rathbun, who aided Rodermund to escape returned to Appleton last night. He was arrested and confined in the new detention hospital. He will be prosecuted.

Rodermund escaped from his house early Saturday evening, while four policemen were on guard, and was driven by a confederate forty miles distant to the city of Waupaca where he took the Wisconsin Central train for Chicago.

His escape was not discovered here until noon yesterday when a telephone message from Waupaca told of his escape and of his confederate being there.

At three o'clock yesterday morning the policeman at Waupaca met Rathbun coming from the train and asked where he came from. Rathbun readily replied, "From Appleton," and the talk at once turned on the smallpox scare.

As he was leaving Rathbun remarked: "You might telephone the Appleton police that one man is enough to watch Rodermund's house now, for the doctor is gone and one man can handle the kids."

The policeman thought it a joke but telephoned to make sure, and an examination showed that Rodermund was gone.

His wife refused to talk.

People Threaten Violence.

Appleton is more than ever excited and if Rodermund is captured and returned here he will need close guarding to save him from violence.

An investigation of the police will be made and of carelessness is proved some discharges will follow. The house where Rodermund lived is so situated that it is hard to be watched closely and there has been a feeling that more watchers were needed. There has also been a feeling that Rodermund should be denied the privilege of the telephone, but this was not done, as the officers wished to impose no additional hardship on him. The escape was undoubtedly planned over the telephone.

PERILS TO MORALS IN DIVORCE LAWS

Judge Gibbons Arraigns the Illinois
Laws—Wants a Radical Change Made.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 28.—"The law of marriage and divorce as it prevails here is nothing more or less than legalized concubinage. I am not an alarmist, but I do say that our present divorce law must necessarily result in the debasement of public morals. I should amend the law so as to permit absolute divorces only for infidelity and impotency."

This is the recommendation of Judge John Gibbons, made in a letter to Chief Justice Boggs of the Supreme court of the state, which he made public today. The judge urging the enactment of a new law, writes further: "It is the mecca of all the mismatched portion of the human family to seek solace in free love. If a man becomes dissatisfied with his wife, or a wife prefers another to her husband, he or she applies for a divorce without much danger of oits being refused. If the legislature should not be able to go as far as I suggest, it ought to be made a misdemeanor for the guilty party to remarry either in this state or elsewhere within a certain number of years of the granting of the divorce."

Another Nome Rush Expected.

How many will go to Cape Nome in the spring to search for gold is the question troubling Seattle, Wash., outfitters. The first wild rush is over, but it is expected that, in spite of this, between 6,000 and 8,000 will be on their way to the gold fields when the season begins.

SYNDICATE MAY BUY UP PULLMAN

Harriman-Morgan-Vanderbilt Combine is After the Sleeper Line.

IMMENSE PROFIT IN IT

The Trust Wants Everything
Pertaining to Railroads Under Its Direct Control.

THE DEAL IS SAID TO BE ON

Pullman, Ill., Jan. 28.—It is now rumored that the Harriman-Morgan-Vanderbilt railroad syndicate is after things other than railway properties. It is said that the big combination that has been buying and pooling transportation lines all over the country is now planning to buy out Pullman's Palace Car company and absorb as far as possible all the private car companies. The Pullman company operates its cars over the various roads under long time contracts, usually of ten years' duration. The managers of the syndicate realize the immense profits of the sleeping car corporation and figure that they might just as well go to the treasury of the combination. For some time, it is said, the syndicate has been negotiating for the purchase of a controlling interest in the Pullman company. The combination wants everything pertaining to railroads. Having unlimited capital, if the managers once decide to purchase even as big an affair as the Pullman company, there would be no financial obstacle in the way. Just how far the negotiations for the absorption of the sleeping car concern have progressed cannot be learned, but it is the prevailing opinion that the deal is on. The Pullman company controls the sleeping car privileges of every railroad in the United States except the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the New York, New Haven & Hartford. In the general plan of consolidation the two companies doing business on these roads will also be purchased with those of the Pullman.

BANK TELLER IS MISSING.

Arthur R. Barnard Gone—Theory of Kidnaping Advanced.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Arthur R. Barnard, teller of Zion City bank, the private financial institution at 1300 Michigan avenue, established by John Alexander Dowle four years ago, has disappeared. His father, C. J. Barnard, cashier of the bank, reported his disappearance at Englewood police station and asked that an immediate search be made for the young man. He is of the belief that his son has been kidnapped and is held for ransom, a belief which is shared by Mr. Dowle and several members of his church. The kidnaping theory is not entertained so strongly by the police. They think it more probable that young Barnard has been held up by robbers, and possibly injured seriously, if not fatally. The senior Barnard reported to the police that his son had a small sum of money with him when he left his home at 6143 Monroe avenue on Saturday evening. Still another theory of young Barnard's disappearance is based on the fact that he was shot a year ago while resisting highwaymen. Both robbers were convicted and sent to prison. It is thought that one of these men may have regained his liberty and waylaid Barnard for revenge.

SIXTY DROP THROUGH THE ICE.

Two of a Large Party of Skaters Are Drowned in Fight for Life.

New York, Jan. 26.—Sixty skaters, including many women and children, broke through the ice on a large pond back of Evergreen cemetery, Brooklyn, and in the wild struggle for life two boys were drowned. The ice suddenly sank in the center of the pond where the water was deepest. The whole crowd of skaters was panic stricken. Men and women fought to save themselves, and children suffered in the unequal struggle. The screams of the imperiled skaters were heard by men employed in a factory near by, and they dragged out long planks, which were pushed toward the center of the pond. Along this footing a life line was formed. Effort was made first to rescue the women and children. By twos and threes they were taken from the water and hurried to the shore. The police reserves and surgeons arrived in ambulances and succored many of the half-drowned skaters. The bodies of the two victims were recovered. They were identified as William Schwadel and Philip Fleck, each 11 years old.

Sixteen People Drowned.

Rotterdam, Jan. 28.—The steamer Holland from London sank in the Maas Luis today. Eleven of her crew four passengers and the pilot were drowned.

MOB BESETS MRS. NATION.

For of Kansas Saloon-Keepers Has Perilous Time at Topeka.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Nation started again in this city and was all but severely handled by a mob of women. Never since Kansas was admitted to statehood had such a sight been seen as this, when a large number of the women of the city joined together as though impelled by the one common desire—that of showing their disapprobation of the plans adopted by Mrs. Nation for combating the saloon evil. When she arrived at Ed Myers' saloon on Kansas avenue she was confronted by the wife of the proprietor, who rained blow after blow on her head with a broomstick, while Myers stood by and encouraged the effort. By this time a crowd of 1,000 people had gathered, among whom were but few sympathizers of Mrs. Nation. Nobody attempted to interfere and soon the wife of the proprietor stopped her assault. Mrs. Nation said she was not hurt by her experience in the least.

MASTERFUL SPEECH OF SENATOR TOWNE

Held U. S. Senate and a Big Crowd in the Galleries on the Philippine Question.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Senator Towne of Minnesota addressed the senate today on the Philippine question. His speech was a masterful effort and held the attention of the senators and the crowd in the galleries for several hours. He declared that as the result of two years of war we occupy about one five-hundredth part of the archipelago and that the Filipinos were answering the cry of extermination with liberty or death.

Towne then proceeded to argue for the adoption of his resolution declaring the independence of the Philippines. He denounced the administration policy of "imperialism" and said that the retention of the Philippines would commit us to the whole program of empire.

BOERS NAB MANY BRITISH.

News of Big Captures Sent to Cape Town.

Cape Town, Jan. 28.—This has been a discouraging day for the British of Cape Colony. News of incessant Boer activity has arrived here from all points of the Transvaal and the colony. A dispatch from Kimberley says: "A train with troops and military stores on board was waylaid and captured by the Boers at Snyklyp, near Fourteen Streams (north of Kimberley), this morning. The republicans captured a small post of Dublin fusiliers, then blew up a culvert and waited for the train. An armored train has gone in pursuit of the Boers." Twenty Cape police surrendered to the Boers at Devondale, north of Vryburg, Jan. 21, without firing a shot. It is reported that General Prinsloo was wounded in the fighting of Jan. 16. It is reported from Standerton that the Boers today blew up a culvert near Greylingstad. De Wet is said to be in this district and is said to be supplied with dynamite.

From Clanwilliam, Cape Colony, comes the news that the Boer invaders are roaming over the country between Calvinia and Lamberts Bay.

M. DE XIVRY ASSASSINATED.

Governor of Belgian Province of Luxembourg Killed at Ar'on.

Arlon, Belgium Luxembourg, Jan. 28.—M. Oron de XIVry, governor of the Belgian province of Luxembourg, was assassinated here this morning by a man named Schneider, who afterward committed suicide.

Wedded in Both Centuries.

A novel wedding was celebrated in San Francisco New Year's night. A couple were united in marriage while the clock was striking the midnight hour, in order that they could claim to be the last pair wedded during the nineteenth century and the first of the twentieth.—Los Angeles Times.

AN EXTRA SESSION IS NECESSARY

Conditions in Cuba Are Such That They Must Be Given Immediate Attention.

Washington, Jan. 28.—There is an increasing probability that an extra session of congress cannot be avoided. It turns out that President McKinley is exceedingly anxious to be relieved of the responsibility for a continuance of purely military control in both Cuba and the Philippines, and it is difficult to say in which direction his anxiety for relief is the greatest. The truth is that a crisis is rapidly approaching in Cuba. There is danger of trouble in the island if the United States does not keep its promise and withdraw its military occupation, and President McKinley naturally wishes to share the responsibility with congress. It is understood to be his purpose

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW IN TONIGHT

It Has Passed Through an Extensive Cutting Down Process.

TO APPORTION STATE

Joint Committee Will Be All Named and Work Begun This Week.

COOK-VANDERCOOK CONTEST

Madison, Wis., Jan. 28.—Some of the most important work before the Wisconsin legislature will be launched during the coming week. Various measures advocated by Gov. La Follette will make their appearance during the next few days and the committees of both houses will be given plenty to do.

The week will be started tonight at 8:30 o'clock with the introduction of the primary election bill. The measure will go to both houses at the same time. Assemblyman E. Rax Stevens, the author of the bill, will present it to the assembly and Senator George P. Miller will introduce it in the senate. The bill was to have been ready for introduction early last week, but it was found to be too long and unwieldy and during the past few days the process of cutting it down has been in progress.

Subject of Apportionment.

The subject of apportionment will also be considered during the coming week and this also will be one of the most difficult pieces of legislation. The senate committee of ten members is complete, but the twenty members of the assembly committee yet remain to be appointed. It is expected that Speaker Ray of the lower house will announce his committee on this evening. Mr. Ray has been holding off his appointments to await the action of the senate, so as not to duplicate any appointments from the same counties.

Tax Commission Report.

It is also expected that during the coming week the report of the Wisconsin Tax Commission on the subject of life and fire insurance will be forthcoming. While the commissioners have carefully guarded any decision that they have arrived at, it is generally believed that they will recommend some change in the present system as provided by the Orton law.

Until the report is received it is not probable that any bills touching on the subject of life insurance taxation will be introduced.

Cook-Vandercook Contest.

The Cook-Vandercook contest will be determined within the next few days and the rightful owner of the seat of the First District of Marathon county then be settled. There does not seem to be much doubt that two reports will be made by the Committee on privileges and Election and if the sentiment and reports that are in circulation are taken for a forerunner of the outcome of the contest, Mr. Cook will retain his seat.

Couldn't Count the Racer.

A Maine man sent his small son out to count the new brood of chickens, which had hatched out that day. When the boy returned he said: "I counted them all but one, daddy, and that one was running 'round so fast I could not count him!"

Fails to Cure Consumption.

Recently an institution was opened in Belgium for the alleged cure of tuberculosis by the exclusive raw meat diet. After a trial of a few months the experiment was abandoned, as it was found that there was no efficacy in the Richet cure.

NOTES FROM THE CUB WOMEN

The North Side Art club of Chicago listen this week to the lecture "A Winter in Florence" from Mrs. Anna Schmidt of Boston.

A Venetian musicale was given by the Arche Club on Friday. A Venetian mandolin orchestra and sorbetta served by Italian peasant maids were features of the occasion.

The Sunday afternoon open door has been inaugurated by the Chicago Women's club, when a restful hour, with a brief address, a program of music and a cup of tea will be free to all women.

The Chicago Matheon give a euchar for the benefit of its day nursery this week.

The Kilo and West End Chicago clubs are fostering an evening cooking school for factory girls.

The Chicago Women's clubs in a resolution most enthusiastically received, wipe out the color line distinction and affirms "Its unwavering belief in equal opportunities to all with out regard to race, color, religion or politics."

The Congenial Twenty met with Mrs. Elsworth Green on Tuesday last when current topics were discussed and a dainty repast served. The event was tinged with sadness from the fact that it was in the nature of a farewell to Mrs. Green, as she soon moves to Minneapolis where she will make her home.

The St. Katherine Reading circle was organized by prominent Catholic ladies in April, 1894. They have a membership of twenty with dues of twenty five cents yearly. Their officers are president, Mrs. John S. Baker; vice-pres., Miss Minnie Joyce; treas., Miss Margaret Buckley and sec., Mrs. Oscar H. Pyper. They are studying the history of the church, the poets, and current events. Their meetings are held fortnightly at the homes of the members.

The study class of the Eastern Star met with Mrs. Strickler on Wednesday afternoon. Owing to the illness of several members the program was considerably shortened. A paper was read by Mrs. Merritt on the lead mines of Wisconsin; and one by Mrs. Conger on Astor and the fur companies. The next meeting will be held in three weeks at the hall.

The exhibition of pictures at the high school last week was not only very satisfactory in the variety of subject and in the different forms of production shown, but also in the interest manifested by those who attended. Many parents brought their children and many children came alone but all were eager and anxious to learn as much about the pictures as possible, and the committee in charge was most courteous in giving information. Why would it not be a means of education to the children to send them over a grade at a time and have the pictures explained to them, when such an exhibition is in progress. The choice of the committee was varied to suit all ages, story telling pictures like Plowing and Refreshments for the little folks, historical like the Puritans and Miles Standish for the boys and girls studying U. S. history and character studies such as Lazarus where can be seen a different expression in the face every day. The nature studies like the Boats and Rough Weather are suitable for all ages, while any American boy or girl cannot but be made better by gazing upon the face of Lincoln.

The Art League met as usual on Thursday with Mrs. Ashcraft. As it was the art section Mrs. Capelle presided with Miss Harris secretary.

Mrs. Baker read a good paper on the influence of the Medici on Art and Culture and spoke of the vast sums spent by them for that purpose. Lorenzo established an academy for the study of painting and other arts and the garden of San Marco for the benefit of botanists. Florence has ever since been a treasure house for students. Mrs. Tarrant read some extracts from the makers of Florence concerning Bartholomew. He was the intimate friend of Savonarola of whom he painted a most beautiful portrait. His life was nearly spoiled by Savonarola's tragic death though his later years were sweetened by his friendship for the young Raphael.

Mrs. Ashcraft read a paper on Albertinelli. He was a friend of Bartholomew and often painted pictures in conjunction with him. He was a merry wayward fellow who painted holy pictures when the mood seized and kept a taven meanwhile for a change. He left one noble picture, the Visitation. He was not so good or so great a man as the pious monk but the influence of this friendship was very great upon them both.

Among the current events mentioned were John Ruskin's monument and a proposed statue for Benjamin West. Mrs. Tanberg spoke of the magazine, "Progress," which is giving a history of the arts in the university lessons.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Thomas Jefferson, who has taken up Rip Van Winkle, is said to resemble his father, Joseph Jefferson, physically and mentally and in various ways. It would be strange indeed if he did not inherit some of his talent for acting, which has been in the family for six generations before him. Those who have seen him act say there is no doubt of his aptitude for a career on the stage, and his success in his present venture has been so marked that it is something likely to be perpetuated and to become a standard performance. Thomas, who assumes the role of Rip, says: "I guess people think I am nerry." But his audiences really do not think so, but rather wonder that he has refrained from showing what he could do. It is very gratifying to Thomas the way his efforts are being received. It is said that he does not imitate his father and what he does is just as natural to him as it is natural to his father. It will be seen at the Myers opera house tonight.

"The Parish Priest," the new drama which Daniel Sully is to present at the Myers on Jan. 31, has the same delightful atmosphere as "Sag Harbor" and the "Old Homestead," but in development and treatment it resembles neither of those plays. Quiet methods are employed, and it is a play of character and dialogue rather than of plot; but it possesses a sustained interest which begins at the rise of the curtain on the first act and continues until the end.

The most marvelous illusion ever presented on any stage is Herrmann's sensational offering the present season, "Cromation." It shows a beautiful young lady burned alive before your very eyes, and so realistic is the effect, that it is positively startling and awe-inspiring. This one act alone is worth the price of admission, but when to that is added several other illusions and a strong bill of legerdemain, the performance is one that local theater goers can not afford to miss.

"The Belle of New York," with its bewitching lyrics, its stunning costumes and its enviable British reputation is to be with us, and the town is glad. "The Belle" will sing her fascinating and exhilarating songs at the Myers Grand soon.

Much interest naturally arises when Mr. Charles Frohman's name is connected with an entertainment and the fact that he announces a production of William Gillette's latest success, "Sherlock Holmes," at the Myers on Feb. 2, should fill the house. Mr. Gillette is by far the most successful playwright in America.

THE GOVERNMENT'S SCHOOL CHILDREN

SUPT. ROSS' VISIT TO ONEIDA INDIAN SCHOOL.

Two Hundred Pure Americans Receive Instruction Up Through the Eighth Grade—They Are Clever in Manual Training But Seem Deficient in Mathematics.

Supt. Ross has returned from a week spent in the northern part of the state on educational business intent. He devoted one day to the Oneida government school, a few miles west of Green Bay, where 200 Indian children are fed, clothed and educated, Uncle Sam paying the bill. The school is graded like others. When the eighth grade is passed the graduate is sent to the Carlisle school in Pennsylvania where the high school finish is added.

Mr. Ross visited first the kindergarten. Here fifty small, undiluted Americans marched in to music, sang a little song and in reverent attitude repeated the Lord's prayer. They then dispersed to their various tasks and showed quite as much manual dexterity as children of the Caucasian stock.

Throughout the grades the skill of the children in hand work was plainly seen, but in the realm of pure reason, like mathematics, they fall short. The school includes a well equipped manual training department where excellent results are accomplished. One-half day is given to study and the other to work.

The girls are taught cooking, house-keeping and sewing, and the more advanced pupils make their own gowns under competent supervision. They are well dressed, well mannered and undoubtedly contented. They are bright looking, healthy children, but not possessed of a high grade of physical beauty according to white standards.

The school was established eight years ago. Supt. Hart has twenty-three subordinates, and the daily routine is conducted with no more friction than in any institution where so many interests are conserved. One of the teachers is a Carlisle graduate and is a very competent, refined and intelligent young woman. Of the 200 pupils, 198 are of the pure stock, one is of mixed parentage, and the one white child is the son of a section foreman.

Supt. Ross inquired into the question of discipline and learned that order was maintained with probably less effort than in the average city school. When the children first enter the restraint and the regular hours make them homesick and occasionally they run away.

Then, of course, they must be brought back, but no coercion is necessary. The parents are easily made to understand the immense advantage to their children of school training, and very frequently accompany them back. They soon become accustomed to the changed conditions and learn to love their school home.

Some of the officers of the institution are full blood Indians, but their work is equal to that of their fairer co-laborers. Two of them impressed Mr. Ross with their unusual ability and general intelligence. One in particular had a facility of expression and a vocabulary not often found in the possession of the cultivated white man.

On the reservation, which extends to within a few miles of Green Bay, are 2,000 Indians, with ninety acres assigned to each man. They have good houses and barns, their fields have a cultivated look, and while they might be distanced by our more progressive scientific farmers, they could easily hold their own with our second best class.

THE LEAGUE FINDS A CREDIT BALANCE

Murphy League Meeting Yesterday—Plans Work for the Coming Season

A meeting of the Murphy League was held yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building, presided over by President A. E. Matheson.

It was decided to hold a regular meeting once a month in the Y. M. C. A. building and a meeting once every three months to which the public would be invited.

A financial statement concerning the late concert at the Congregational church showed a credit balance of between three and four dollars. The society now has about $15 on hand which will probably cover the needs of the immediate future.

F. Burt. Carr, proprietor of the Carleton of Edgerton was in the city last evening.

A child three years of age died of drunkenness the other day in New York City. The parents said they had given the child whiskey to strengthen him. In their absence he found a bottle of whiskey and drank from it, until he fell over in a drunken stupor, from which the physician could not arouse him. That is only one case in several cases of baby drunkards recently noted. The important fact is that alcoholic stimulants quickly develop the alcoholic habit in children. This fact is just as true when the alcohol is disguised as a medicine, a "sarsaparilla" or other "compound." So many medicines contain alcohol, to the same extent that it is contained in beer or whiskey, that parents should be cautious what medicines they give their children.

There is absolutely no alcohol, whiskey or intoxicant in any form in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, neither does it contain opium or any other narcotic. It is a blood-making and body-building medicine. It does not make flabby flesh but good, firm flesh and muscle. It is pleasant to the taste.

"My four year old daughter had suffered from indigestion and bowel trouble from birth," writes Mrs. Lizzie Allen, of Baldpate, Lackawanna Co., Pa. "The treatment given her by home doctors afforded but temporary relief. Last February she was taken with severe pain in the bowels, followed by violent vomiting. She experienced difficulty in passing urine, which, when cool, deposited a milky sediment. I became alarmed from her symptoms and wrote to the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., receiving in reply a letter advising the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, together with a special medicine which they sent. This line of treatment I followed for about two months, at the end of which time my child was enjoying good health, and she has had no severe attack of indigestion since."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to defray expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CENTURY'S GROWTH.
Remarkable Increase in Population and in Business.

The actual increase of population in the 10 years is about 13,225,000. The rate of increase in the period from 1880 to 1890 averaged about 2 1/2 per cent each year. The rate for the past 10 years has been about 2 1/10 per cent annually. The diminution in the rate is, in considerable part, due to the diminished volume of immigration. The individual effectiveness of the American population is so high that in respect to material resources and power, it will be conceded by every one that the United States is well in the forefront of the nations. The structure of the British Empire is such that, in a comparison of population, commerce, and other statistical data, there is no more reason for adding Australia to England than for adding Mexico to the United States. Our population at the beginning of the 19th century was, in round figures, 4,300,000 white people, and 1,000,000 negroes, the total being 5,300,433. Curiously enough, we had almost exactly the same population at that time as Ireland, which in 1801 had 5,395,450. After gaining very rapidly for four decades, Ireland since 1845 has declined steadily, until now it has a population of about 4,500,000. The comparison of our national position at the beginning and the end of the 19th century makes it clear enough that, from the standpoint of the world at large, the progress of the United States has been the most noteworthy feature of the age. When France assisted us to gain our independence, her population was at least five or six times as great as ours. Ours is now just twice as great as hers. Ten years ago our population was about 25,000,000 more than that of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; and now it is about 35,000,000 more. In 1910, unless normal conditions are much disturbed, we shall have a population of 90,000,000, while the British Islands will have about 44,000,000. And we shall thus have more than twice as many people as the mother country. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews.

Fire Destroys Opera-House.
Peru, Ind., Jan. 28.—Miller's Opera house was destroyed and several nearby buildings were damaged by a fire that started from a defective light in a dressing room of the theater. The loss on the opera house is about $25,000. Other losses are: The Daily Chronicle, $2,500; Miller & Wallick, confectionery, $2,000; Charles Griswold, farming implements, and D. E. Inkenbury.

Famine Is Devastating China.
Peking, Jan. 28.—There has been great distress in the province of Shang-Si owing to the famine and thousands have died. The court has ordered rice relief to be issued in large quantities. A report reached the foreign envoys that native Christians suffering from the famine were to be discriminated against and to be punished if they even begged for food.

Postoffice as a Grog Shop.
Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 28.—W. G. Demps, postmaster at Whitesville, has suddenly disappeared, and his bondsmen have taken charge of the office until the government officials arrive. Whitesville is a prohibitionist town, and during the holidays Demps is said to have carried on a retail whisky trade in the postoffice. He fled to avoid arrest, it is said.

For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs. Winslow's SCOTCH WHISKY has been used for children while teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves all pain, cures colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by druggists throughout the whole world.

Individual Cost of Government.
Each inhabitant of France pays annually 17s. 6d. for the support of the government, while each Italian contributes 16s. 8d. In Germany and Belgium the cost is 12s. 6d. per head of the population; in Austria 11s. 8d., and in Great Britain 8s. 4d.

Mr. Kruger Seriously Sick.
New York, Jan. 28.—The World publishes the following special cable from London: An Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Press wires that news has been received there that Mr. Kruger is very seriously ill, that his medical attendant almost despairs of his life, and that three doctors visit him daily.

Two Trainmen Killed in a Wreck.
Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 28.—In a freight wreck on the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railway at MacFarlands, Tenn., J. W. Collette, fireman of Limestone, Tenn., and E. D. Felmet, engineer, of Friendsville, Tenn., were instantly killed.

But It Doesn't.
Many Have the Erroneous Idea that fat makes fat

One Reason of Cod Liver Oil's Popularity

Nevertheless a Decidedly Wrong Impression.

Fat taken into the stomach does not make fat. Thousands of physicians have prescribed cod liver oil for wasting diseases and all troubles that show themselves in a decline of weight. Physicians know that the fat or grease is not what is necessary to make fat or tissue. They also know that it is one of the main things that make cod liver oil impractical in many cases. The fat is too rich to be digested by a stomach weakened by disease.

When cod liver oil is given, often the oil passes from the body in exactly the same state in which it is received. The reason doctors prescribe cod liver oil is that it contains certain curative properties. It is to take advantage of these same curative properties that they have so often tried to force their patients to take this horrible, greasy, vile-smelling, nauseating remedy.

There are but few people who have not had experience in one way or another with cod liver oil, and even the thought of its smell is enough to cause a shudder. When we think of these things it is not strange that every one in our city is sounding the praise of Vinol.

Vinol, which Mr. Smith, of Smith's Pharmacy, is handling, is the solution of an embarrassing puzzle that physicians have had to contend with for years. Much has been said in the past few days of this wonderful discovery and yet it would be impossible to say too much in its praise.

Vinol, Wine of Cod Liver Oil, will indeed prove itself to be a Godsend of the most precious kind. As we have described it before, there is no need now of entering into the subject at length; but just remember that in Vinol you can procure all the medicinal properties or curative principles that make cod liver oil famous, but without the greasy fat. Vinol contains just the right amount of the active medicinal properties of the cod's liver that is necessary for the cure of such diseases as cod liver oil has been prescribed for.

This is a subject that every one should become familiar with and we recommend that you make inquiries of your druggist in regard to Vinol, or if you will call on Mr. Smith, who has associated himself with the Boston chemists who are preparing this remedy, he will gladly give any one all explanations that may be desired in regard to this subject.

PRINCETON COLLEGE.

The action of the management at Princeton college in declining the invitation to be present at the inauguration of President McKinley in March will be generally regretted. The reason given, "interference with college work," is a flimsy that it is hardly worth considering. Princeton either fails to recognize or else defies public sentiment that for the past few years has been running so strong against colleges and universities on account of their attitude toward the administration.

They have been breeders of disloyalty and un-Americanism to a degree that has caused sharp criticism and more or less censure. It is a serious question in the minds of a good many intelligent people, whether a college education surrounded by an atmosphere that is more or less prevalent in many of the higher institutions of learning, is conducive to loyal American citizenship.

The action of Princeton in refusing to take part in the inauguration of the president will have a tendency to confirm, rather than remove the prejudice.

The officers of that time-honored institution seem to possess a narrow conception of what American education is. They seem to attach more importance to Greek roots and Latin verbs than to patriotism or a knowledge of and regard for American institutions.

The inauguration of a president of these United States is an event of the greatest honor. It is the crowning glory of national life, and worth more as an educator to any young man who is permitted to witness it, if he appreciates in any degree the privileges guaranteed by its significance, than the best thirty days he ever invested in college work.

The boys at Princeton are entitled to better treatment. They are given plenty of time to star the country on football, and many of them will go into life with a better knowledge of the game than of the republic.

To a casual observer it looks very much as though the twaddle of ex-President Cleveland, on anti-expansion had captivated the faculty to the detriment of the school.

What the country needs today in its educational department is a normal school for the training of college officers and professors where they can have instilled into them the principles of the foundation of American government, based on patriotism, Americanism, loyalty and a hard common sense. Many of them would pass a creditable examination on their record and would not need to enter, but there is quite an element that ought to be kept in pickle for an indefinite period, or until they reform.

The late action at Princeton indicates that some recruits could be found in that institution.

INSURING STATE PROPERTY.

It has always been an open question, on which good business men do not agree, as to whether the state should insure its own property or pay some one else to do it.

The state institutions coming under the direct supervision of the State Board of Control, carried no insurance for a long term of years. The fire at Waukesha two years ago cost the state some $50,000 and caused the board to give the matter of insurance careful thought, resulting in their having placed on the several institutions $1,000,000 of fire protection.

It was found that the Waukesha fire cost the state more money than insurance premiums would have cost for a term of years, and the wisdom of the board was generally endorsed. The state has no money except as the people contribute it in the way of taxes, but it has several million dollars' worth of valuable property that it holds in trust for the use of the state.

Common prudence would dictate that the servants of the people should use ordinary business judgment in the care and protection of the property.

A man may be in business for twenty-five years and pay out thousands of dollars for insurance, and never receive a dollar back. If so, he is in luck, but because of that fact he never thinks of dropping his protection.

The time to lock the barn is when the horse is in, and the time to protect state property is all the time. The bill now before the senate for canceling all state insurance will bear careful investigation.

GOOD WORK.

The reappointment of General Boardman and Judge Wm. P. Lyon, indicates that Governor La Follette recognizes ability and fitness for office, and evidences a spirit of fairness that is highly commendable. It may be disappointing to office seekers, who had hoped to fill the positions under the new administration, but the office seeking class is largely in the minority and the governor's action will meet with the approval of the people of the state. The officers named are both efficient, filling positions of responsibility faithfully and well. They are in position to render the state better service than inexperienced men. The governor is to be congratulated on being able to retain their services.

The freak has arrived and this time he comes from Oshkosh with a couple of legislative bills, one offering $35 a dozen for children, and the other taxing bachelors $10 each. Both prices are too cheap. Babies are worth more than $35 per dozen and there ought to be a prohibitive fine on bachelors. Try again, Mr. Assemblyman. Times are good and the people will stand it.

Mrs. Nation continues to raise Cain in Kansas, while Mr. Nation appears to be lost in the shuffle. He should go over to Topeka and sympathize with Mr. Lease. Mrs. Lease is laid up with a broken leg in New York, which prevents her joining the hatchet brigade at home. Kansas is all cut up and bleeding at several new pores.

The osteopathic bill will find plenty of friends in the assembly as well as in the senate. Any member who has had occasion to test the science will be an enthusiastic supporter. No intelligent man can afford to block the progress of science, and any careful investigator will discover that osteopathy is a science and nothing else. The bill is entitled to hearty support.

Every wheelman in the state will favor Senator McGillivray's bicycle path bill. The number of wheelmen, however, is greatly diminished and the license should be placed high enough to insure success. Any man who rides a country road would be willing to pay two dollars a year for the maintenance of a good path.

Copper Deposits in Ireland.

It is well known that very important copper deposits exist in Ireland, and it is probable that a large amount of British capital will shortly be employed in the development and operation of mines in the Midlands and West, and there is every likelihood of the venture turning out most remunerative. The ore from some of the mines shows a high percentage of copper, and the situation of the mines is such as to make the transport of the ore to Swansea for smelting purposes a comparatively inexpensive matter.

PLANTS EAT INSECTS.

Venus Fly-Trap Discriminates Between Animal and Other Matter.

A few insecting eating plants have been gathered from the swamp lands of North Carolina and California, and others have been sent from India, Australia and Madagascar. Perhaps the best known of the group is Venus Fly Trap. The leaves vary from one to six inches long, and at the extremities are placed two blades or claspers. On the inner walls of these claspers there are six irritable hairs, any one of which receiving the slightest touch from an insect is sufficient to bring the two blades together with such rapidity as to preclude any possibility of the fly escaping. A correct idea of how the trap closes on its victim may be obtained by bringing the two hands rapidly together, the fingers of one being firmly pressed between those of the other. This plant readily discriminates between animal and other matter; this, if a small stone or piece of wood be dropped into the trap it will instantly close, but as soon as it has found out its mistake, and it only takes a few minutes, it begins to unfold its trap, and the piece of wood or stone falls out. On the other hand, should a piece of beef or a blue bottle fly be placed in it, it will remain firmly closed until every piece of organic matter is absorbed through the leaf. It will then unfold itself, and is ready for another meal.

CHILEAN STRATEGEM.

Indians Afraid to Molest. Telegraph Wires or Poles.

When the electric telegraph was first introduced into Chile, a stratagem was employed in order to guard the posts and wires against damage on the part of the natives and to maintain the connection between the strongholds on the frontier. There were fifty captive Indians in the Chilean camp, and General Pinto, in command of the operations, called them together, and pointing to the telegraph wires said: "Do you see those wires?" "Yes, General." "Well, I want you to remember not to go near or touch them, for if you do your hands will be held, and you will be unable to get away." The Indians smiled incredulously. Then the general made each of them in succession take hold of the wire at both ends, and then an electric battery was turned on. "Now," he exclaimed, "I command you to let go the wire!" "I can't, my hands are numb!" cried each Indian. The battery was then turned off, and the next day all the captives were restored to liberty, with strict instructions to keep the matter secret. This had the desired effect, for, as might be expected, the experience was related to every man in the tribe, and the telegraph has ever since remained unmolested.

Do Away with the Cause.

A tainted breath may be temporarily purified by occasionally chewing a bit oforris root or stick cinnamon. But this merely disguises the odor. A bad breath comes chiefly from decaying teeth, and in some cases has its origin in a disordered stomach. When diseased teeth cause impure breath, recourse should be had to a dentist; when organic disease is the cause, as is very often the case, a physician should always be consulted. The breath should always be kept sweet, and people should guard against making themselves disagreeable to their associates by being indifferent in this matter. Many a woman, otherwise charming in every respect, has unwittingly repelled her acquaintances by her impure breath.—New York Weekly.

INCANDESCENT HOUSE LIGHTING.

A few of its advantages are, the ease with which it can be turned on or off by means of switches even from points distant from the lights.

No heat nor dirt is given off and the light readily lends itself to artistic arrangements and decorations.

In the decoration of a home it is of the greatest importance to consider the kind of light we are to use. If you use a heat and soot producer for illuminating the paper and household furnishings should be selected accordingly, for light paper, carpets or upholstery will be practically ruined in a short time and lace curtains will be stained a dingy gray with a fresh white.

Any open flame is a bad thing to have in a home habitation. It is a consumptive air and that is what we primarily exist upon. As the saying is, "It makes the air bad." Those who breathe it makes them sleepy. Malaria is often blamed for this "tired feeling."

Another advantage is the facility with which it can be installed to produce a better diffusion of light.

The old idea of a group of lights in the center of a room has become obsolete. The aim of progressive architects is to so distribute the lights around the room that there will be no shadows cast.

We will always be pleased to consult with prospective clients and to give estimates for installing.

Outside connections are made and meters set without expense to customers.

REMOTE ANCESTORS WERE THE PILGRIMS

WISCONSIN BRANCH OF MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS.

A Number of Janesville Ladies Attend the Birth of the Society in Milwaukee—Several Trace Lineage Back to Priscilla Moleins—Aim of the Organization.

A Wisconsin branch of the society of the Mayflower descendants was organized Saturday at the home of Mrs. Sydney Peck in Milwaukee with a charter membership of twenty-six. The officers elected were:

Governor—Mrs. James Sydney Peck, Milwaukee.
Deputy Governor—Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers, Janesville.
Secretary—Mrs. Edward F. Vilas, Milwaukee.
Treasurer—Mrs. Edmund C. Gray, Milwaukee.

Historian—Mrs. Mary L. Atwood, Madison.

Assistants—W. W. Strong, Kenosha; George W. Taylor, Marinette; Howard Green, Milwaukee; Dr. Geo. Harlow, Milwaukee; Mrs. H. A. J. Upham, Milwaukee; Miss Edith L. Bifford, Hartland; Miss Mary L. Peterson, Janesville.

Mrs. James S. Fifield, Mrs. O. H. Fethers, Miss Kate Fifield and Miss Louise Peterson left for Milwaukee at 10 o'clock and remained during the day as the guests of the society's governor.

Mrs. Peck entertained the visiting Mayflowerers very hospitably. After the business meeting refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed. Mrs. Peck was decorated with badges reaching from arm to arm. Among them were noticed: D. A. R., Colonial Dame, Mayflower, Founders and Patriot of America and others of similar significance.

Besides those already mentioned there is a number of Janesville ladies who can trace their lineage back to the Mayflower episode and all are members of societies in other states as follows: Mesdames James S. and Charles L. Fifield, Helen Sherer, Miss Kate Fifield, Miss Mary L. Peterson and Miss Lizzie Cowles belong to the District of Columbia branch. Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers to the New York branch. Miss Hattie Alden of Washington, formerly of Janesville, was one of the District of Columbia charter members.

Miss Peterson, Miss Alden Mrs. Sherer and Miss Fifield trace their descent back to Priscilla, the Puritan, whose surname was Moleins, and commonly called Mullins.

Mrs. Fethers claims Elder Brewster as her Mayflower ancestor and Mrs. Chas. Fifield lineage goes back to Edw. Doty.

The society is founded for the purpose of keeping alive the spirit of independence which animated the Pilgrim fathers and will also be of service in keeping their descendants in close touch with each other. As the years go by these facts of genealogy will have steadily increasing importance in the construction of history and biography.

The society is accumulating a library of books and papers of historical and genealogical interest relating to the pilgrims. The secretary would be glad to receive published or manuscript genealogies, town or state histories, memoranda of tombstone inscriptions, town or church records, or any other matter of interest or value in this connection.

WON SOME PRIZES AT POULTRY SHOW

Eugene Fredendall received three first prizes on White Barred Plymouth rocks.

Clarence Hemmens received first on Buff Plymouth Rocks.

The Janesville poultry fanciers have been to a great deal of trouble and expense to get the best individuals possible in their flocks and now have a number of chickens that will compare favorably with any in the state.

They learned that it was the seventy-seventh anniversary of her natal day, and showed their interest in the fact by making it a sort of neighborhood festivity.

They came in the afternoon, provided with the essentials of a good supper, and enjoyed the informality of the affair hugely.

HOUSE DOING RAPID WORK.

Business Well Advanced in Lower National Body.

IT HAS PASSED MANY BILLS.

The Senate Not So Far Forward with Its Work—Subsidy Bill Likely to Pass Senate This Week—Question of Negro Disfranchisement.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The house of representatives is rapidly disposing of business. It has passed the legislative, executive and judicial, pensions, urgent deficiency, military academy, Indian, river and harbors, District of Columbia and naval appropriation bills, and will this week consider the postoffice, agricultural and consular and diplomatic bills, which have been reported from the respective committees and are now before the house.

The senate has passed only two of the supply bills, the legislative, executive and judicial and urgent deficiency measures. The Indian appropriation bill is pending, while the pensions and military academy bills have been reported to the senate, the river and harbors and District of Columbia bills being still in committee. It will be seen that the senate has an enormous amount of business to dispose of within the remaining thirty legislative days of this session.

To Urge Subsidy Bill.
When the subsidy bill comes up in the senate its managers will ask the adoption of the amendments suggested by Senator McMillan in the hope that by adopting these concessions the measure will gain strength among the western and northwestern senators. The subsidy advocates are predicting that the bill will pass the senate during the next week or ten days, and say that Senators Mason and Chandler, Republicans, and Senators Jones, Caffery, Berry and Clay, Democrats, are the only senators who have announced an intention of speaking on the bill.

Question of Southern Franchise.
There will be no legislation at this session of congress to punish disfranchisement of negroes in the south, representative Hopkins of Illinois, chairman of the census committee, having in charge the Olmstead resolution to reduce the representation of the southern states in congress, states that the director of the census has informed him that the data required concerning voting population, illiteracy, etc., for the action of the committee cannot be furnished for several months, surely not during the present session of congress. The matter will, therefore, go over until next December.

Towne to Leave the Senate.
Senator Towne of Minnesota delivered his valedictory in the senate today, as his successor, Senator Moses B. Clapp, will appear tomorrow to take the oath of office. Mr. Towne says it is his intention to devote himself to the practice of the law and give politics a wide berth in the future.

Orders Cutler to Muskegon.
New Orleans, La., Jan. 28.—Ashea O. L. Spaulding, assistant secretary of the treasury, has directed that the revenue steamer Fessenden or the Morrill, now stationed on the lakes, proceed to Muskegon, Mich., in time to participate in the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Phil Kearny statue, on Memorial Day.

Police Held on Queen's Life.
New York, Jan. 28.—Local life insurance men estimated at as high as from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 the probable aggregate amount to be paid out by English companies to policyholders who had taken out insurance on Queen Victoria's life, but who had no relation whatever to the queen.

Insurgent Leader Is Slain.
Manila, Jan. 28.—Gen. Funston reports that thirty of his men near San Isidro killed five insurgents. Later the same detachment engaged thirty insurgents under Taguntan, the notorious leader and assassin. Taguntan was killed while trying to escape.

Correy, Ind., Jan. 27.—J. R. Perkins, 74 years old, and the Rev. William Perkins, a traveling evangelist, 68 years old, were accidentally reunited, after a separation of 60 years. Each considered the other dead. The former is worth $100,000.

Poorhouse Inmate Made Rich.
Spokane, Wash., Jan. 28.—George Pangburn, who came to Washington from Illinois thirty-four years ago, and was a pioneer in Whitman county, dropped dead at Endicott, Wash. His widowed sister at Colfax, Wash., for years an inmate of the Whitman county poor farm, is sole heir to his estate, consisting of a large ranch and $10,000 in money in bank.

Starved Himself to Death.
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 28.—The dead body of Jacob Kuntz, a hermit, was found in a miserable cabin some miles north of this city. The body was clad in rags. On his person was $456 in money and a deed to eighty acres of valuable land. The coroner's verdict was that Kuntz had starved himself to death.

CARNEGIE BECOMES MASTER.

Holds Supremacy Over the Rockefeller Interests.

New York, Jan. 28.—Andrew Carnegie has played another card in the battle of the multi-millionaires for supremacy in the steel world. The canny Scot has outwitted Rockefeller and Morgan by securing control of the Pressed Steel Car company. He has added to his fighting capacity $25,000,000, which is the capitalization of the trust. It is paying over $2,000,000 a year in dividend. Carnegie has carried the war into Rockefeller's own field. He is battling the oil and railroad king on his own grounds. While Rockefeller and Morgan planned to control the railroads of America Mr. Carnegie extended his grasp to cover almost everything the railroads need. The railroads cannot operate without supplies. Carnegie holds the key. Rockefeller owns only the rights of way and the oil. Carnegie controls everything Rockefeller wants except locomotives, and it is an open fight between them for that.

The announcement that Carnegie has secured the assistance of his formidable ally—the car trust—in his fight came with the news that F. N. Hoffstat had been chosen president of the trust, to succeed Charles T. Schoen, founder of the combination. Hoffstat is a relative of Carnegie. He is also related by marriage to Henry Phipps, one of Carnegie's partners. He is one of Carnegie's most trusted men and, as they say in the Carnegie company, "takes orders without asking questions." Henry W. Oliver is also one of the leaders in the Pressed Steel Car trust. He is likewise one of Carnegie's men, is in charge of the ore interests of the Carnegie company, and a director of the Pressed Steel Car company. As a result of this combination, Mr. Carnegie is in a position to dictate prices to the Rockefeller and Morgan railroad interests. They cannot secure steel cars without paying Mr. Carnegie's price. They must consult Mr. Carnegie when they want axles and car wheels. They must bow to him when they enter the market for steel rails. Even the vast shipping interests are dependent on Carnegie for the tanks on which the oil is carried. The only part of the railway equipment not absolutely under the thumb of Mr. Carnegie is the locomotive. Even in that the engine builders have to come to Mr. Carnegie for raw materials, and he dictates the price they must pay for steel.

Noted Cotton Merchant Dying.
St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 28.—William M. Senter, president of the St. Louis Cotton exchange, and a prominent factor in the cotton trade in St. Louis, is lying at the point of death at the Baptist sanitarium. Mr. Senter was attacked by a serious illness three weeks ago. Thursday a change for the worse set in, and the physicians now express no hopes for his recovery.

Fined For Wearing Hor Hat.
New Orleans, La., Jan. 28.—Ashea Waba, an actress, known as "Little Egypt," attended the matinee at the Crescent theater and would not remove her hat. She was arrested and fined $15 or fifteen days in jail. This is the first arrest that has grown out of the enforcement of the high-hat law.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—The delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America declined at the afternoon session to enter into an agreement with the National Brotherhood of Holisting Engineers, and the action may precipitate a fight.

Duke's Bride Has Diphtheria.
San Francisco, Jan. 28.—The Duchess of Manchester lies seriously ill at the Palace hotel in this city. All day and evening inquiries made of the management brought the reply that she was well and had left with the duke of Monterey, but late at night it was discovered through a personal friend, E. O. McCormack, a railroad superintendent, that the duchess was taken very ill after a late supper last night. She showed signs of throat trouble, and Dr. Richter, who was hurriedly summoned, declared that she was threatened with a severe attack of diphtheria.

Cigarettes Lead to Divorce.
Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 28.—That cigarette smoking to excess is good ground for divorce is the ruling made by Judge Burnell of the Circuit court. ## Live Skunk in Banquet Pie.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 28.—It was an extraordinary pie which was brought into the Hotel Brunswick dining room during the Megantic Fish and Game club's annual dinner and placed in front of the president, A. W. Gleason of New York, and in close proximity to the guests of the evening, Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff of New York and Lieutenant-Governor Bates of Massachusetts. When with a fine burst of rhetoric Mr. Gleason cut open the pie out jumped a skunk. When the skunk bolted for Mr. Woodruff's lap, both he and his Bay State conferees were badly scared. But the beast was tamed—had been trained for the performance evidently, and harmed no one.

Conn Sausage Being Made.

Nashville, Ill., Jan. 28.—Hiram Paxton, an enterprising farmer living near here, and his two sons have hit upon a novel plan for converting a hitherto valueless animal into valuable product. The scheme is nothing more than the manufacture of con sausage and the idea originated with the farmer. Cobs abound throughout this section of Illinois and heretofore were hunted only for their hides. Mr. Paxton experimented with the new food and shipped a consignment east. The returns were encouraging and a batch is now being turned out each week and shipped to New York.

Elevator Tragedy at a Home.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Miss Stella Thomas of Burlington, Ia., an advanced student at the Sherwood Music school in the Fine Arts building, was crushed to death in the elevator at the Young Women's Christian Association home, 288 Michigan avenue. She lived only a few minutes after the accident.

Guests Have a Close Call.

Sycamore, Ill., Jan. 28.—The Ward hotel, the principal hostelry here for the past quarter of a century, was gutted by fire, which started in the shaft which extends from the skylights to the first floor. About fifteen guests had difficulty in escaping, getting out of the building in a half-clad condition. The Sycamore Democrat, located in the basement, was badly damaged by water. The hotel office on the first floor and a cigar store were badly damaged. Loss over $5,000. The hotel carried insurance, but the Democrat did not.

Fifty Cents for a Wife.

Phillipsburg, N. J., Jan. 28.—Frank Fisher, an Eastern junk dealer, has sold his pretty twenty-year-old wife to George Gardner, a carter, for fifty cents. The deal took place Thursday night, and all the parties to transaction are well pleased, though Fisher says he got 30 cents more than the woman is worth. Fisher had learned of clandestine meetings between his wife and Gardner. Instead of "gunning" for the garbage man, he patiently awaited an opportunity to settle the affair on a business basis.

Three Cremated in Blaze.

Babcock, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, told his congregation. He took occasion to arraign not only the fashionable devotees of whist and progressive euchre, but the practice, common among society folk as well as others, of offering wine to youthful guests.

King Will Not Use Balmoral.
London, Jan. 27.—The king has no use for Balmoral, in Scotland; it is too dull and out of the world for him, so there may be a chance for some rich American to rent it some day. The king will have to move into Buckingham palace for a London residence, but he does not want it, as it is the gloomiest old barracks of any royal residence in Europe. Society hopes he will pull it down and build a house worth living in.

BRONCHITIS

may mean a mere cold or a chronic incurable inflammation of wind-pipes.

The quickest relief, for a cold, is also the most effectual balm for the worst condition of wind-pipes and lungs.

It takes the edge off a cold in a night, and relieves it progressively—one forgets it after a little.

An old bronchitis, however, is obstinate. Nothing restores the tissues, when once destroyed; and an old bronchitis has gradually impaired and partly destroyed the lining of those small pipes between throat and lungs.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the balm; it soothes if it cannot restore.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

BOWSER BOWSERED.

HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW PAYS HIM A LITTLE VISIT.

He tries to cut up, as usual, but speedily discovers that he has met his match and beats a decidedly hasty retreat.

(Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.)

On his way home the other evening Mr. Bowser had his feet stepped on, his hat knocked off and his ribs poked by umbrellas, and by the time he reached home he was ready for a row. To add fuel to his feelings he found that his mother-in-law had arrived two hours before and was comfortably installed at the head of affairs, while Mrs. Bowser had gone to bed with a headache. Formal greetings had scarcely been exchanged when he said:

"What's all this twaddle about headache? When I left the house this morning, Mrs. Bowser was as chip as a cricket. Mighty funny that a headache should flop her into bed all at once."

"There's nothing funny about it," promptly replied the mother-in-law. "She had a nervous headache, and I told her to go to bed." She looks to me up, and I shall do it!" she sternly replied.

Then followed a powerful silence, broken at last by his going down to the cellar to nail a board on the coal bin. He had just started to drive a nail when the mother-in-law appeared on the stairs and said:

"Drop that hammer like a hot potato! Don't you know that every blow goes through your poor wife's head with a bang? You've got about as much heart in you as a rhinoceros."

"Woman, how dare you talk to me like that!" he shouted as his face grew white as flour.

"Don't call me 'woman' and yell out that way!" she replied. "No bulldozer can scare me a cent's worth. If you want something to do, go up and sit with your wife while I wash up the dishes."

Mr. Bowser sulked for a few minutes and then walked up stairs. Finding Mrs. Bowser asleep, he thought it would be a good thing to overhaul his dresser. He had scarcely pulled out one of the drawers when he discovered a sock with a hole in the heel. Indignation overcame him on the instant, and he flourished the sock on high and exclaimed:

"So this is the way my house is run,

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

News and Discoveries of Interest About the Magic Current.

George Anderson, a Scotchman, has recently patented in this country a method of setting diamonds or other precious stones by electricity.

A German savant insists that, barring accidents, the exact duration of any person's life can be determined by means of the X rays.

To an already long list of names of electrical units, many of them not in use except by the hyper-technical, two more have been added by the Paris electrical congress—the "gauss" for the unit of magnetic field intensity and the "maxwell" for the unit of magnetic flux.

A Russian medical man has decided that the electric light is least injurious to the eyes. He says that the oftener the lids are closed the greater the fatigue and consequent injury. By experiments he finds that the lids would close with different illuminations per minute: Candle light, 0.8; gas, 2.8; sun, 2.2; electric light, 1.8.

A new kind of steam generator called an electric calorifier in which the necessary heat for vaporizing water is produced by an electric arc which advantageously replaces fuel was exhibited at the Paris exposition and is remarkable on account of its simplicity and the many applications to which it can be adapted.

Automobilism and the increasing necessity for some form of traction for goods and passengers better suited to cities than that furnished by the horse have given another impetus to the search for a storage battery that combines lightness with high output and enough mechanical and electrical strength to insure long life. Nothing is more urgently needed, and nothing seems further from attainment. For many years inventors have worked at this fascinating problem, but little has been done to improve the accumulator since its invention more than 20 years ago.

A new electricity meter has been patented in London in which the conventional balance spring is substituted by an electromagnetic device to bring the escapement wheel to the central position. This wheel has a number of wires diametrically attached to it and is surrounded by a coil through which passes the current to be measured. The rapidity of the oscillation of the balance wheel to a certain extent is proportional to the current. Should an extra powerful current happen to traverse the coil or should the current be suddenly increased in voltage, auxiliary devices are provided to prevent the balance wheel when near the central position remaining stationary at that point. These secondary appearances also serve to set the balance wheel in motion with a small current. In other respects the appliance resembles the ordinary type of meter.—Scientific American.

Strike Insurance in Austria.

A number of Austrian manufacturers have recently formed an association for insurance against strikes, says a United States consul. It is the object of the association to indemnify its several members for all losses sustained by them from unjust strikes which may break out in their respective establishments, whether voluntary, sympathetic or forced. Each member is to pay a weekly premium equal to from 3 to 4 per cent of the amount of his pay roll. The indemnity to be paid to him in case of a strike is to be, tentatively, 50 per cent of the wages paid to his employees for the week next preceding the suspension of work. It is provided, however, that no indemnity shall be paid if a committee of confidential agents appointed by the association shall, after a full investigation of all the circumstances, find the strike a justifiable one.

It is worthy of note that a report upon and discussion of the subject "Insurance Against Strikes" formed a prominent feature of the programme of the national convention of Austrian manufacturers.

It appears that this movement of industrial employers is not confined to Austria. It is reported that a similar insurance association, though on a smaller scale, has been organized in Leipzig. Both the Austrian and German associations, it appears, recognize in principle the justness of strikes, which is, at least in this country, an important concession to labor. Whether this recognition will have any practical result remains for the present a matter of conjecture.—Scientific American.

Production of Fuller's Earth.

The production of fuller's earth in the United States has increased greatly in the last five years, though recently it has shown a decline owing to large importations of the English material, which is preferred for filtering cottonseed and lard oils. The chief source of the material in the United States is Quincy, Florida, though deposits have been found in New York, Colorado and Utah, as well as one of a promising nature in South Dakota, which furnishes almost an exact duplicate of the English earth. The American product is largely used as a substitute for bone-black in the filtering of mineral oils. As the cottonseed oil business is growing rapidly there promises to be a large demand for the English earth and naturally for such of the domestic material as comes up to the standard.—New York Evening Post.

Effect of Altitude.

The splendid results of high altitude in the treatment of tuberculosis have not been due to any curative constituent of the atmosphere or any peculiarity of temperature, but entirely to decreased barometric pressure upon the external surface, compelling a greater expansion of the chest, opening up a larger surface for the interchange of gases and consequently a greater oxygenation of the blood.

PASTE DIAMONDS.

The X Rays the Greatest Judge of False Jewels.

It seems the X rays have been proved to be the greatest judge of false jewels and that conservative lapidaries will soon trust to the X rays decision rather than believe their own eyes. In fact, the marvelous rays have detected very old paste diamonds of the time of Queen Elizabeth, which had at first deceived no less than Mr. Streeter, the famous London jeweler. A real diamond, ruby and pearl when photographed under the rays leave no impression whatever on the film. It is simply non-existent, says that authority. The false stone, on the contrary, comes out as a shadowy substance, and paste leaves a well defined form of dark color. Two photographs of a lady's hand thickly covered with heavily jeweled rings showed in one by the ordinary process all the stones; in the photograph taken under the X rays there were the shadowy outlines of flesh and the deeper shading of finger bones. But in each ring was an empty space the exact shape of the jewel, which, being genuine, had been transparent to the X rays. It is wondered if the burglar and jewel thief won't now think it worth while to put those terribly inquisitive rays on the swag before risking their liberty to carry it off? Since Mr. Streeter began to experiment with this detective, many owners of splendid jewels have been to him to test their genuineness. But, alas! there will be no more romances of stolen casquets with their precious contents changed to paste by unscrupulous husbands or wives? Ouida's novel, "The Americans," marks the end of such dishonest ructions in high life.—Boston Herald.

Some Novel Inventions.

By the use of a recently patented inhaler sufferers from catarrh, hay fever and similar diseases may treat themselves at night, the time when affections of the throat and head make the most formidable strides. The device consists of two absorbent pads connected by a wire spring, the latter being bent to a shape convenient for attachment to the central cartilage of the nose.

With the idea of eliminating to some extent at least the disagreeable affliction of seasickness two Englishmen have devised a self leveling chair. The chair is suspended from two rings working in a framework at right angles to each other, and it is claimed the chair will remain level in the roughest sea. The idea is also supplied to berths.

Umbrellas or canes may be provided with a spring hook fixed just under the head by which they may be hung on a rack or hooked into the pocket when it is desired to use both hands for some other purpose. The hook is concealed when not in use, forming a smooth joint with the surface of the stick and is released by pressing a button.

Late sleepers may be interested in a German invention. An ordinary electric alarm is connected with contact points underneath the bed, the weight of the sleeper forcing them together and forming a circuit. When the alarm is released, the bell continues ringing till the weight is removed and the circuit broken.

Comfort in cold weather is insured by a combined carriage lamp and foot warmer. The lamp is placed below the body of the vehicle and is connected by a tube directly over the blaze with a warming chamber inside the body of the wagon on which the feet may be placed.

Golf players may get rid of the caddy by using a device patented in England. The caddy bag is provided with an inflated ball at the bottom and at the top has supporting legs which can be folded out of the way when not in use.

Amateur photographers will appreciate a combined cane and tripod. Three telescoping legs are pivoted to a small head, the latter being provided with a threaded shank to which a handle can be secured when the tripod is folded.

Mustard as usually served in cups or open pots soon dries up. A German has invented an airtight cup having a piston projecting through the top. On pressing the piston a plunger forces the mustard through a spout in the inside of the cup.—Chicago Evening Post.

Two Beneficiary Bequests.

Mrs. Anna Sticker, who died recently in Camden, N. J., left charitable bequests aggregating $14,000, including one of $5,000 to the Methodist hospital in Philadelphia and a like amount to Taylor university, Upland, Ind.

Cancer

There are never any external signs of Cancer until the blood is polluted and the system thoroughly contaminated by this deadly virulent poison. Then a sore or ulcer appears on some part of the body; it may be small and harmless looking at first, but as the cancerous cells form and are deposited by the blood near the sore, it increases in size and severity, with sharp shooting pains. No matter how often the sore is removed by the surgeon's knife or flesh destroying plasters, another comes and is worse. The real disease is in the blood, and the treatment must begin there. The poisoned blood must be invigorated and purified, and when this is done cancerous cells can no longer form and the sore will heal naturally and permanently.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keating, 64 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 47 years old, and for three years I have suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had given up all hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, an enjoying perfect health."

SSS overcomes this destructive poison and removes every vestige of it from the system, makes new, rich blood, strengthens the body and builds up the general health.

If you have a suspicious sore, or have inherited any blood taint, send for our free book on Cancer, and write to our medical department for any information or advice wanted; we make no charge for this service. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention, and will be held in strictest confidence.

BY
CONNER

Yesterday evening I was walking along Broadway, New York. Three young women came toward me. They were strongly built young things, every one. A gang of hoodlums passed me, youths of 14 to 16. Instead of turning out to the right for the girls one of the fellows butted his head in among them, shoved them apart and swaggered rudely between two of them, grinning and laughing like an ape as he did so. Then the other hoodlums grinned and laughed like apes at the exploit. The girls merely looked helpless and unprotected and seared and hurried on. Any one of them could have given the shuffling, undersized tough a slap in the face that would have made him see stars and made his unclean cheeks tingle half an hour, besides teaching him a blessed lesson in manners. Moreover, two of the girls together could have trounced the tough soundly. But no! They merely did the tiresome old unprotected female act of the dime novel, and the unwhipped cub passed on to repeat his performance with added zeal and confidence. Stories team of insults to women, of attacks on them, of awful murders of those who still play the helpless female role. In view of these horrors it would be a rare good thing if parents would employ Fitzsimmons to give their daughters lessons in boxing and wrestling and the womanly art of self defense. Men seem no longer able to protect women. Fitzsimmons is a prizefighter, but he never insulted or wronged a woman. When women assume that they can take care of themselves, they will be able to do so. There is more strength in the spirit than in the size.

The most unfortunate and uncomfortable lot in life is that of being obliged to live with a suffering, disappointed, cranky person, young or old. Heaven save us from the chronically disgruntled!

Are women's brains not equal to men's? All the more reason, then, why they should make the very most and best of what they have, supposing that the Creator only gave them a small amount by way of experiment just to see what they would do with it.

I have lived long enough to see a woman who has voted for president. I esteem it one of the privileges of my life. The lady voted in Colorado. She is a distinguished musician, brilliant, accomplished and popular socially, besides speaking four languages fluently. She may never be able to vote again if she stays in this benighted old New York, but at least her descendants will be able to point with pride to the fact that their great-grandmother or 17 generations back cast her ballot for president. At any rate, mine eyes have beheld her. I am not yet quite ready to depart in peace, but I have certainly seen a great thing.

A wife ran away with a tramp. The tramp starved her and finally beat her. In response to her piteous appeal her husband forgave her and took her back on the ground that she was out of her mind when she eloped. A husband ran away with his wife's pretty sister. When he was tired of it, he was also welcomed back repentant to his home, and the word was given out that he had been temporarily insane. That is right. Any married person who elopes with another's husband or wife is undoubtedly crazy.

Mrs. Rosalie Mauff of Denver has built up the largest greenhouse business in the northwest. In artificially heated glass houses are raised everything from palms and ferns to asparagus. Her palmhouse is a vision of landscape from the tropics. In Denver itself she has six greenhouses and in a village near by 12. All these grew in 17 years out of a tiny glass roofed room heated by a stove. Three factors contributed to Mrs. Mauff's success. She is a woman of rare business ability to begin with. Next she started her enterprise where there was a good market. Third she superintended personally every detail of her work "from planting seeds to decorating churches," the Denver Times says.

In the states in which women vote for presidential electors the returns show a largely increased balloting on their part. In The Woman's Journal Mrs. Chapman Catt gives instructive statistics from the states in which woman suffrage amendments have been twice defeated. In Kansas the vote in favor has increased from 9,100 to 95,802. In Washington a majority against it of 19,386 a few years ago dropped to 9,882 in 1898. South Dakota in 1890 defeated the measure by 23,610; in 1898 by only 3,285. In 1884 Oregon went against by 14,953; this year by only 2,083. In Oregon the negative votes were this year within a very small figure of what they were in 1884, showing that the old bunkers who voted against then still live and slumber, but the increased vote of the state is very largely on the side of woman's citizenship. This favorable growth, it is to be remembered, is in the immediate vicinity of the states where women now have full suffrage. Look out next time!

San Diego, Cal., rejoices in several athletic young women boat crews.
